MERN stands for MongoDB, Express JS, ReactJS and NodeJS. Mostly, Beginners who are finding a way to make a place in tech market choose Web Development. For web, there are many Stacks as follows:

- MERN
- Django
- LAMP
- Spring Boot

There are a lot others in market, but these are in trending.

Beginners choosing web stack to start their learning in web development mostly delved into MERN stack.

Reasons:

- Only one language have to learn to land a job
- Its easy to master one language
- NoSQL databases i.e., MongoDB

That's not right. One should focus on services he/she is going to serve in the market. Every Stack has its own uniqueness. Moreover, in big companies, developers have to work with relational databases instead of non-relational.
